What WinkyPie is

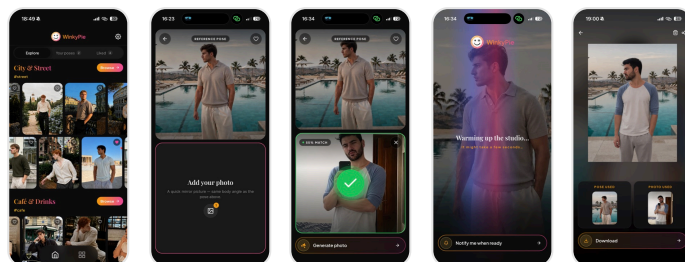

An iPhone app that turns one selfie into a dating-profile photo that looks like a photographer took it. You pick a pose from a catalog, the app tells you how to stand, you take one selfie, and the AI renders you — your face, your build — in that pose and that place.

It does two things other AI photo apps don't: it coaches the pose before you shoot, and it checks your selfie for free before anything costs you.

Who is watching

A man, 22–40, on Tinder, Hinge or Bumble, whose first profile photo is a group shot or a mirror selfie. He thinks AI photos look fake and doubts one would still look like him. You talk to him as one guy to another — about photos and the app. Never to a woman, and never about anyone's love life.

The screens you will show

- 1 Poses grid — pick a pose
- 2 Pose card — the coaching, then "Add your photo"
- 3 Photo check — green tick, match %
- 4 Generating
- 5 Result — with "Pose used / Photo used"

Always the real app on your phone, filmed over your shoulder. Never a mock-up, never a screenshot we sent you.

What we are ordering

Five scripts, one video each. Every video tests one idea — its first line. You may be asked for one script or several; each video stands on its own. It runs as our ad from our page. You post nothing.

Step zero — before you film (required)

1. Install WinkyPie from the App Store: apps.apple.com/us/app/winkypie/id6757441777. Start the free trial — it covers everything you need for this. Do not pay for anything. If you need more than the trial gives, message us and we cover it.
2. Pick a pose, follow the coaching, take your selfie, let the check run, generate one photo.
3. Send us a screenshot of your result screen — the one with Pose used / Photo used — before your shoot date. No screenshot, no shoot.

Why. In every script you talk about using the app. US advertising law (the FTC endorsement rules) requires that a person shown using a product has really used it. The photo you show on camera must be your own result, generated from your own selfie — never something we send you. The trial renews after 3 days unless cancelled in your Apple subscriptions; that is your call after the shoot.

How to read a script

LOCKED	Say it word for word. Usually the first line and one line in the middle. These are the lines we are testing.
YOUR WORDS	The meaning is fixed, the wording is yours. Talk, don't read. Short sentences.
INSERT	Leave a clean 1–2 s pause; we cut the app screen in there. Also film that screen over your shoulder.
A / B	A selfie moment — film it twice, see right.
We add	The right column of every beat sheet is added by us in editing. Deliver clean footage: no captions, subtitles, stickers, music or logos.

Selfie moments — film them twice

Wherever a script has you take the selfie, shoot the beat two ways and deliver both:

- Variant A — as written. You mirror the pose and take the selfie on camera.
- Variant B — phone in hand, you look at the pose card and the coaching, then cut. You are never seen photographing yourself; the selfie is implied.

Why. Meta's ad rules for this category may not allow a person visibly photographing themselves. We choose the master; you deliver both.

The rules — never, in any video

- Claim results. No matches, dates, likes, "it worked", "more replies" — and no numbers of any kind. The story ends at the photo.
- Talk about dating life or relationship status — yours or the viewer's. You talk about your photos and the app.

- Say a price or any money amount — not the app's, not what photographers cost. The only allowed line is “three days free, cancel anytime”.
- Say how many poses there are.
- Call it a filter, a face swap or an editor, or suggest the photo shows a different person. It is AI, it renders you, and we label it as AI on screen. Don't pretend otherwise.
- Name other apps or services.
- Show anyone but yourself. No women on screen, in the photos you show, or in the poses you pick.
- Invent proof — “my friend tried it”, “studies show”, ratings, reviews. Don't say “review” or “honest review” on camera. This is a disclosed ad.
- Visible logos, music, captions.

Tone

Like telling a friend what you found. Short sentences. Calm and confident. No hype words, no “insane”, no shouting, no sales voice. At the reveal we want a real reaction — “wait, that's me?” — surprise, not disbelief. Being a bit sceptical at the start is fine; that is the story.

Look

Natural light, a real room or street, phone at eye level, your face big in the frame, vertical. Clean audio: no wind, no music, no TV. Plain clothes, no logos. Low-fi is the point — it should look like you shot it, because you did.

Questions

Message us on Billo before you film, not after. Two things we always say yes to: swapping a middle line for your own phrasing, and sending the first 3 seconds of your hook early so we can tell you whether the delivery works.

She decided in 100 ms.

IDEA TESTED The decision moment — the first photo does all the work, so make it the right one.

WHO IT'S FOR The guy who swipes a lot and thinks about why it isn't working.

LENGTH · FORMAT 20–25 s · 9:16 · you to camera, phone in hand, then the app over your shoulder

She decides on the first photo, instantly — here is how to make that photo.

The hook — first 1.5 seconds

“She decided in a hundred milliseconds.”

LOCKED

To camera, no preamble, no “hey guys”. The first word is the first frame.

Beat sheet

TIME	YOU — SAY AND DO	WE ADD ON SCREEN

5	“So make it the right one. Here's what I did.” Flip the phone: poses grid, pick a pose. INSERT	Make it the right one.
8	Over your shoulder, the pose card and the coaching. “It tells you how to stand. The angle, where to look, your hands.”	Pick a pose. It coaches you.

Sample script

She decided in a hundred milliseconds.

Before she even read your name.

The first photo does all the work.

So make it the right one. Here's what I did.

— flip the phone, pick a pose —

You pick a pose. Then it tells you how to stand. The angle, where to look, what to do with your hands.

One selfie. — A / B —

It checks the photo first. If it won't work, it tells you. Free.

— result, turn the phone to camera —

...that's the photo.

Three days free. Cancel anytime.

Shots to deliver

- Talking head, all lines, two full takes.
- Over the shoulder: poses grid, pose card with coaching, photo check with the green tick, result.
- Selfie beat, variant A and variant B.
- Reaction at the result, held 3 s after you stop talking.
- 10–15 s b-roll: holding the phone, scrolling poses.

Alternative openings — film both, first 3–5 s only

- “Before she reads your name, she's already decided.”
- “One swipe. One photo. One shot.”

Only for this ad

“A hundred milliseconds” is a line, not a statistic. Never “studies show”, “science says”, no percentages, no “most guys”. Don't describe her, and don't describe the viewer. The word “she” is only ever the person swiping.

Would your photo pass?

IDEA TESTED The free check — the app tells you if your selfie will work before anything costs you.

WHO IT'S FOR The guy who has paid for an AI photo app before and got garbage.

LENGTH · FORMAT 20–25 s · 9:16 · mostly the app over your shoulder, your face at the start and the end

The check is the ad. Show it clearly, hold on it, then show the rest of the flow fast.

The hook — first 1.5 seconds

“Would your photo pass?”

LOCKED

Phone up in frame with the photo check already running. Say the line to camera, then look down at the phone.

Sample script

Would your photo pass?

— the green tick lands —

Most AI photo apps charge you for the bad result. This one checks first. Free.

Here's the whole thing. — rewind: poses, coaching card —

Pick a pose. It tells you how to stand. Angle, where to look, hands.

Take one selfie. — A / B —

It checks the selfie against the pose. If it won't work, it says so. Before you've spent anything.

— generating, result, turn to camera —

One selfie. That's the photo I needed.

Shots to deliver

- The hook with the check screen in frame, three takes — this is the shot that matters most.
- Over the shoulder: check screen with the green tick held 3 s, poses grid, pose card with coaching, generating, result.
- Selfie beat, variant A and variant B.
- Reaction at the result, held 3 s.
- 10–15 s b-roll: phone in hand, thumb on the check screen.

Alternative openings — film both, first 3–5 s only

- “It checks your photo before it costs you anything.”
- “Most AI photo apps charge you for the bad result. This one won't let you make it.”

Only for this ad

If your own first check gave you a warning or a retake, show it — that is the product working. Never stage a fail. The check screen with the green tick and the match % must be clearly readable on camera for at least two seconds.

All my photos were group shots and gym mirror selfies.

IDEA TESTED

Coaching — you don't need to know how to pose, the app tells you.

LENGTH · FORMAT

25–30 s · 9:16 · confession story to camera, the app as the twist

Problem → tried it, sceptical → the twist is the coaching → the result. The story ends at the photo, not at a date.

The hook — first 1.5 seconds

“All my photos were group shots and gym mirror selfies.”

LOCKED

Direct to camera, natural light, phone in hand but down. Flat and honest, not a joke.

All my photos were group shots and gym mirror selfies.
So I tried the AI photo thing. Honestly, I expected a fake face.
Here's what actually happened. — flip the phone: pose card, coaching —
It coached me. Angle, gaze, hands. You don't need to know how to pose.
I copied the pose. Took one selfie. — A / B —

Shots to deliver

- Talking head, all lines, two full takes — one flatter, one warmer.
- Over the shoulder: pose card, coaching card, the selfie moment, check with the green tick, result.
- Selfie beat, variant A and variant B.
- Reaction at the result, held 3 s after the last word.
- 10–15 s b-roll: scrolling poses, looking at the phone.

Alternative openings — film both, first 3–5 s only

- “You don't need to know how to pose. It coaches you.”
- “Pick a pose. Mirror it. Done.”

Only for this ad

The first line has to be true for you. If your photos weren't group shots or gym selfies, tell us before filming — we'll match the words to your actual photos and keep the shape. Never say how long you've been single, never mention dates, never “and then I matched with...”. Your photos, the app, the photo. That's the whole story.

Looks pro. Still you.

IDEA TESTEDLikeness — it will still look like you. The number-one doubt about AI photos.

WHO IT'S FORThe guy who hates being photographed and assumes an AI photo would look like someone else.

LENGTH · FORMAT20–25 s · 9:16 · your face and your result side by side from the first frame

Pose → result. The pose you picked, then the photo you got — and your face next to it as the proof.

The hook — first 1.5 seconds

“Looks pro. Still you.”

LOCKED

Hold your phone with your result next to your face, both in frame, and say the line to camera. This is the frame that has to work with the sound off.

Beat sheet

TIME	YOU — SAY AND DO	WE ADD ON SCREEN
0.0	LOCKED “Looks pro. Still you.” Your result beside your face.	Looks pro. Still you. + AI note, small, from the first frame
1.5	LOCKED “Not a filter. Not a face swap.” Then, your words: “I didn’t think an AI photo would look like me either.”	Not a filter. Not a face swap.
5	Flip the phone to the pose card. “I picked this pose.” INSERT	He picked this pose.
8	Coaching card, then the selfie. A / B “Mirrored it with one selfie. Same angle, same look.”	Mirrored it with one selfie.

Looks pro. Still you.

Not a filter. Not a face swap.

I didn't think an AI photo would look like me either.

Shots to deliver

- The hook frame — face plus result — three takes, steady hand, phone screen readable.
- Over the shoulder: pose card, coaching card, result, the Pose used / Photo used row held 3 s.
- Selfie beat, variant A and variant B.
- A slow 5 s move from the result on the phone up to your face.
- 10–15 s b-roll: looking at the result, scrolling the gallery.

Alternative openings — film both, first 3–5 s only

- “Same face. New level.”
- “Not a filter. Not a face swap.”

Only for this ad

Never show an old photo of yours next to the result. No “before and after”, no “old me, new me”. This ad is pose → result: the pose you picked, then what you got. The Pose used / Photo used row is the proof — show it. Never say “it made me look better”. Say “it looks like me”.

Start every file with the ad code from its page, then what it is. Example: WP_P2_UGC_100ms_master.mov · WP_P2_UGC_100ms_alt1.mov · WP_P2_UGC_100ms_selfieB.mov · WP_P2_UGC_100ms_broll.mov

Timing

- Step-zero screenshot before the shoot date.
- Welcome, not required: the first 3 seconds of your hook before you film the rest.
- Delivery within Billo's standard window. We review the day it lands. Up to two edit requests per video, each against a line in this brief — never “make it better”.

Rights, in plain words

Billo's terms cover the licence: we may run the video as paid advertising (Meta and elsewhere), edit it, re-cut it, add text and use your name, image, likeness and voice in it, without a time limit. Two things we add to that:

- The photos in the video are AI-generated by the app from your selfie. We label them as AI on screen, and Meta may add its own AI label. You agree to that label.
- We will not use your face or voice to generate synthetic (AI) media of you without a separate written agreement and fee.

What we check the day it lands

- ☐ Locked lines said word for word.
- ☐ Every beat present, in order.
- ☐ The first line lands inside 1.5 s — no preamble.
- ☐ Real app screens, your own result, readable on camera.
- ☐ No results claimed, no numbers, no prices, no other apps, no one else on screen, nothing about dating life.
- ☐ No burned-in text, captions, music or logos.
- ☐ Clean audio, face lit, vertical.
- ☐ Master + two alt openings + selfie variant B + app screens + b-roll + raw, named by ad code.

One last thing. The video that wins is never the most polished one. It is the one where the first three seconds feel like a real person saying something true. Aim there.
